

CAPRI

“The ancient Greeks were the first to settle the island...and artists, writers and poets have praised Capri for generations every year at some point. It is a fact.”
—DIANE VON FURSTENBERG

“Why do I keep returning to Capri? It is home for me.” —GIANCARLO GIARDINO

“I am attracted by the sights, the scenery, the sun at dusk, taking long walks on the small roads or going to a nightclub and returning late at night. This is Capri: the possibility to experience life with a supreme intensity, a deep sense of freedom.” —DIEGO DELLA VALLE

“Capri is like a woman who is not only beautiful, charming and breathtaking but who also has culture and sophistication and is not impressed by money. In July, the sound of the crickets and the colors and smell of the ginestra make you feel like you are in a Lina Wertmüller movie.”
—ROBERTO FARAONE MENNELLA

“I FELL IN LOVE WITH CAPRI INSTANTLY. WHEN YOU ARE THERE, YOU FEEL TOTALLY FREE. IT'S LIKE A BIG SUMMER CAMP FOR ADULTS. EVERYBODY COEXISTS, AND IT IS MULTIGENERATIONAL.” —BARBARA CIRKVA SCHUMACHER

“Looking back, probably my first memories are of the beach club La Canzone del Mare. It was very chic but also extremely antichildren, so we had to behave properly and were all terrified of the staff because they could really be tough on kids in order to protect the quiet enjoyment of the club's regular celebrity and VIP guests. After all, La Canzone was [British entertainer] Gracie Fields's home.”
—AMEDEO SCOGNAMIGLIO

Im Ganzen gegarter Fisch mit kleinen, vollreifen Tomaten (rechts) gehört ebenso wie die variationsreiche Fritura mista (unten) zu den Spezialitäten des kleinen Restaurants Fontelina.

Das Fontelina ist ein Familienrestaurant, in dem Mamma Rubina am Herd steht. Kenner kommen nicht nur wegen ihrer Fischgerichte, sondern auch wegen ihrer selbstgebackenen Kuchen wie der zuckerüberpuderten Traubentorte.

Vom Aussichtspunkt auf dem Monte Solaro oberhalb von Anacapri schweift der Blick weit über Capris felsige Küste und das Meer.
